

Unknown Reflection

Who is that? That stands before me I think I recognize him, but it couldn't be who I think it is for the boy I once knew had so much happiness and love in him, so much that one can keep inside. His bright eyes bring such joy to others, so he thought. And the one who stands before me wants to destroy everything that come upon him. His gloomily eyes brings sudden impulse of terror to his victims and he hates the earth and everything in it, he feels this way because there is no other way to feel when all you most loved and live for was taking away from you, not once not twice but three times and you have nothing more to love and there is too much that time cannot erase. Love he cannot find for his heart does not have the ability to receive nor to give. His heart is like the night so cold and like the shadows so lifeless and degrease not knowing what to expect from the deep dark spot that oozes from the corner of your eyes. He took before in kindness he will take forever in vengeance. Who is that boy that stands before me oh yea it's me.

Lost tears

The more I try the more I die I can't live this life any more, I remember everything maybe that's why I'm so sad all the time. I remember when you said that we'll always be best of friends, but now I find myself crying in the dark all alone, all alone I talk to you in my head I have a picture of you when you was, when you were my best friend for all those years I blame myself for losing you and me too. I love you more now that you're gone, no one can't ever replace what you gave to me and what you gave is all I have. You were my friend you were my brother I hate myself for never telling you. I just want to go back where I was, I was so happy, I just want to go back where I was, I was so happy. I wish that you could see me now I'm disturbed, I'm a better person because all, no I won't tell them your name I'll keep you inside forever more. Cause I just want to go where I was, I was happy. I'll never forget I'll never meet another friend like you again, and if I know why you're gone why do I keep on asking why. There is no blame only regret please forgive me my best friend.....